Wonderful New Views of Peking

"Peking" was the subject of the third interesting travel talk given by E. M. Newman to a good audience at the Oliver opera house, Tuesday evening. The pictures while they presented views of Peking never presented before, did not confine themselves to the capital of the great and fascinating and mysterious Oriental empire, but presented views of many of the strange and wonderful places and things peculiar to the country.

Newman visited China in the summer of 1915 and while in Peking was accorded the unusual privilege of photographing suites in the Imperial palace that have never before been accessible, except to the Chinese rulers and their entourage. The gorgeous throne room, sleeping apartments, reception chambers, and living rooms, all wonderfully furnished and decorated, were shown in the pictures.

In a series of motion pictures and exquisite color views a sedan chair journey was offered the audience from Nankow to the Ming quaint scenery. The Great Wall, Tient-sin and Tsinan, as well as intimate pictures depicting the life in the Orient were presented and explained in Mr. Newman's inimitable way.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

If you want to see June Caprice in overalls you will have to go to the Auditorium today where she is appearing today in "The Ragged Princess." June has to wear overalls to get a job as a farm-hand with an old man of the fields. She has run away from the orphanage where she was raised, and milking is about the only pursuit left open to her. Besides, she likes this farm, because Harry Delgan (played by Harry Hilliard) works there. But June is compelled to leave the farm, and she finally gets to the home of a big rich man, who is wicked. He adopts the little girl. Then Harry Delgan learns that the man is his half brother and he goes to the city to investigate. A search proves that the rich man's property really belongs to the orphan girl, and Harry confronts his brother with the truth. Everything ends happily with June and Harry married. The picture is especially attractive to children as many little ones appear in the cast. The Selig-Tribune weekly of current events with many scenes of interest, is also being shown. Tomorrow brings popular Earl Williams in the second of his series of short stories, called "The Nuremberg Watch." Nance O'Neil will also be seen in "The

AT THE ORPHEUM.

The concluding performances of the current bill of vaudeville at the Orpheum will be given today. The bill presents Gen. Pisano in a marksmanship exhibition; Caesar Rivoli, character impersonator; Friend and Downing, eccentrics; the Barry girls in songs and dances, and Lavine and Inman in a rural comedy sketch.

Mlle. Bernice, interpreter of lyric and classic dances, and a corps of six assistants will occupy the topline position on the new bill which opens tomorrow. The act comprises numbers never danced in America and are all set to classic music with settings and costumes to suit. Grew Paites and company will offer a comedy playlet entitled "Solitaire"; Morris Golden, an eccentric violinist; Godfrey and Henderson in a laughable novelty, and the Two Tomboys, acrobats, complete the bill.

BIRD OF PARADISE.

A big play that grips the heart, and brings the sob to the voice will be seen at the Oliver theater Wednesday, Nov. 1, namely, "The Bird of Paradise." It is by Richard Walton Tully, who has spent years on the peaks that start out of the warm waters of the South Pacific. The claim is made that the tropical atmosphere of our distant insular possessions is faithfully reproduced in "The Bird of Paradise." Oliver Morosco's stage settings have received unstinted praise for their truthfulness. A native Hawaiian band of singers will sing the plaintive Ikahula and other songs of the South seas, during the action of the play. Miss May Buckley will play Luana, the pretty little Hawaiian princess who finally sacrifices herself for love of her people.

AT THE COLONIAL.

Today's feature picture at the Colonial will be a repetition of yesterday's Gold Rooster play entitled "The Fear of Poverty," with Florence La Badie prominently cast. Mary Miles Minter, the charming blonde photoplayer, will be seen in the second of her latest productions, "Dulcie's Adventure" at the Colonial on Thursday and Friday. The story has an old fashioned southern setting and gives Miss Minter ample opportunity for the display of her youthful charms.

AT THE LAsALLE.

The comedy drama "Prudence the Pirate," is being shown at the LaSalle today with Gladys Hulette in the titular role. The story of the piece was written by Agnes Johnson. It is a subject filled with human nature and clean, fast comedy. "The Gilded Cage" will be offered on Thursday with Alice Brady starred. The picture has an interesting plot with the scene of action laid in a mythical kingdom in Europe.

EXPERIENCE.

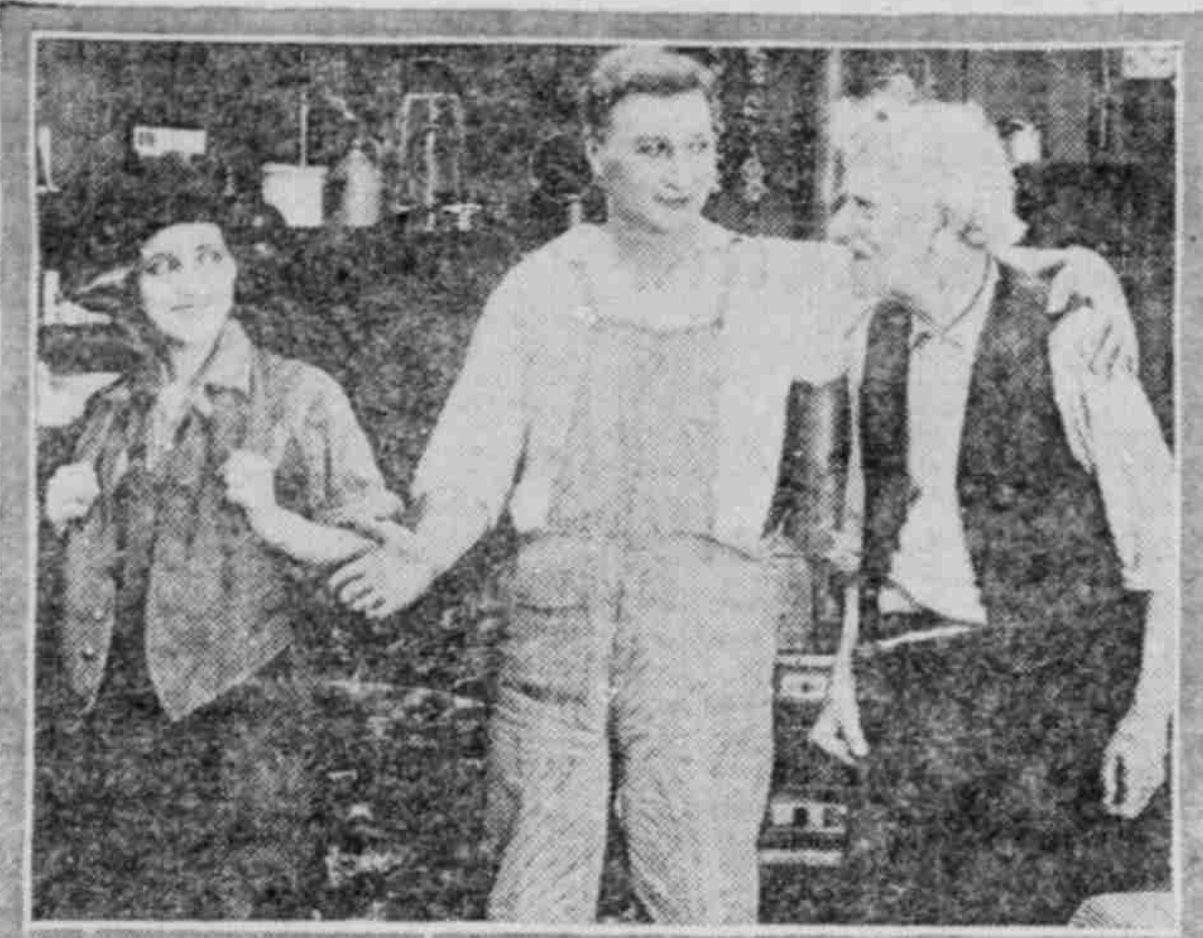

"Experience," George V. Hobart's modern morality comedy-drama, will be presented at the Oliver for three evenings and two matinees starting Monday evening.

"Experience" deals with phases of life which are largely unfamiliar to the majority of audiences, but which are pictured and related, the critics say, with vivid touches of convincing veracity. "Experience" enforces in a potent manner, the eternal lesson that the wages of sin are degradation and misery. It has the sparkle of wine but shows the cold gray dawn of the morning after.

HANLY HOPS HUGHES WITH NEW ATTACK

Reads Letter Sent Michigan Drys Which Declares Nominee Would Take No Stand on Issue.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Receipt of a copy of a letter Charles E. Hughes' secretary sent to the Michigan Dry federation saying that Mr. Hughes probably would make no declaration of his stand on the liquor question during the campaign caused J. Frank Hanly, the prohibition presidential candidate here, Tuesday to launch a fresh attack on the republican nominee.

"Hughes said the other day," declared Hanly, "that the country needed as never before an Abraham Lincoln and left the intimation that it might find a Lincoln in him, forgetful of the fact, that Lincoln in his day accepted the challenge of the invisible government, called a million men to his side, put muskets in their hands and bade them to shoot to the death."

"Where Lincoln stood and fought, Mr. Hughes bows in dumb and silent acquiescence."

JAWS RIGID FOR 20 YEARS PRIED APART

Man Who Never Learned to Talk Subject of Remarkable Operation at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—A patient whose jaws had been rigid for twenty years, who had never learned to talk and who had been obliged to obtain all his nourishment through a tube, was the subject of one of the numerous operations performed at the various clinics here Tuesday as part of the activities of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America.

The joints of the patient's jaws had hardened following an attack of scarlet fever when he was only one year old. Today Dr. W. Waite Babcock laid open the stiffened joints, scraped away a hard, bony substance which was found covering them and inserted a cushion of fat taken from another part of the man's body. Similar operations on other joints have been performed successfully but according to eminent surgeons in attendance it was the first case in which the jaw bone was involved.

Many other notable feats of surgery including cases in which the bloodless method made famous by Dr. Lozenzo of Vienna, who operated here 13 years ago, were performed at the numerous clinics.

Fascinating—JUNE CAPRICE—Captivating

Once upon a time a little girl ran away from an orphanage. She ran as far and fast as she could, until she reached what she thought was the very end of world. Then she stopped, not because it was the end, but because there was a man standing in her way. And she liked the man.

Miss Caprice is supported by that clever leading man, HARRY HILLIARD, also six-year-old JANE LEE, and a lot of other little kiddies.

Take yours to see it. They'll love it.
